TACOMA, Wash. (Apr. 13, 2015) – The Pacific Northwest will be the center of the golfing universe when the 2015 USGA U.S. Open Championship hits the area, June 15-21, and America's Car Museum (ACM), is joining in on the festivities.

The major tournament, contested at Chambers Bay Golf Course in University Place, Washington, is just nine miles from Tacoma-based ACM, the largest automotive museum in North America.

“We’re really gearing up for the U.S. Open with our ‘19th Hole at ACM,’ which is a weeklong celebration,” said David Madeira, ACM president and CEO. “‘The 19th Hole at ACM’ will have plenty of golf-themed events every night for all the fans who are coming to town for the tournament.”

Running from June 15-21, ‘The 19th Hole at ACM’ is a golf after-party. From 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. the Museum will offer “19th Hole” tickets which include, admission, a complimentary beverage and a commemorative gift. A cash bar and appetizing light bites will also be on hand. In addition, check out the world’s oldest golf cart, the Flintstone Mobile, along with the special golf cart display on the Anderson Plaza... after all, they too have wheels and motors.

Plus, visitors can check out the 300 hundred-plus eye-catching vehicles staged in the four-level, 165,000-sq.-ft. modern structure. “Enjoy the tournament and then come check out ACM,” Madeira said. “We have something for the entire family.”
