Education initiatives rev up at America's Car Museum

As ACM celebrates its second year of operations, the education team is hard at work launching new programs for children and adults, gearing up for the fall opening of the Family Zone, and preparing the Educational Resource Center for visitors in 2014.

New educational programming caters to learners of all ages. Family Workshops are held the last Saturday of each month and offer hands-on engagement as participants use their creativity to explore the world of cars. On the second Tuesday of each month, Car Story Play offers engaging time for children 6 and under with their adults. If Cars Could Talk, held on the first Tuesday of each month, offers a unique opportunity for adults to learn the fascinating story behind an automobile in the Museum over an optional lunch.

Educators can take advantage of Education Group Visits offering open exploration activities, tours, or workshops. ACM's large collection and rotating exhibits enable us to create custom experiences to meet the learning goals of each group. On October 15, ACM will offer our first Educator Workshop for teachers who are interested in developing STEM-based curriculum for their K-12 classrooms.

"Whether you're the parents of school-aged children, an educator yourself, or simply interested in the stories behind the cars in our Museum, we have programming for everyone eager to learn," said Debbie Kray, Education Manager at ACM. "We're excited to build a strong education program to serve all aspects of our community."

Special member pricing is available for workshops. Register online to reserve your space in these first come, first served programs or inquiry at the Museum. You can also email the Education Department for more details.

Raffle winner takes home new 2013 MINI Cooper S

ACM has partnered with Puget Sound MINI to award one lucky raffle winner with a new 2013 MINI Cooper S valued at $28,250.

Cami Apfelbeck of Poulsbo, Wash. received the keys to her attractive chili red and carbon black high performance 2013 Automatic Mini Cooper S with a fuel efficient 1.6L I4 DOHC 16V engine during a 10 am ceremony on Friday, September 20 at ACM. Proceeds from the second annual raffle, totaling just under $40,000, will benefit the museum. Click here to read the full story.

ACM members receive Open Road, a tri-annual publication which was created to represent the vision of the Museum and keep members up to speed on America's Car Museum. For the first time ever, we are showcasing a 'classic' article from a past edition of Open Road to give all of our newsletter subscribers an opportunity to enjoy its content. If you are not currently a member and would like to receive the future editions of Open Road, you can join online here and reap this and many other benefits of membership at ACM.
